1.4.138
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant
Theodore Cottingham, April 14, 2006 2:10am
www.unc.bz

1. Who can see that one is taken and another remains? Who can see what this means, implies, and how so takes place, and the consequences thereof?
2. And who can see lightning in one place at all times, at one time in all places?
3. And who can construe all things light?
4. And what now time is it and who how appeareth when, and what meaneth this for the common man, woman, boy and girl; non-religious, religious; and who calleth me lord?
5. And the lord of the harvest is who/what and where from, attending to who/where?
6. And why all these questions? Is it/are they not on my mind, Christ; the Christ mind? And wherefore what will you see therein and take no thought, take mine? And resulteth in what remaining? Heaven/me.

7. See what I have said/declared. I loveth you all. I love you all. I love my ways of speaking mega-ways, and connecteth me with another? I love you. Only in love.

8. See thou now thy ways increase in proportion, expanse, of only me, heavenly vision; you over all, in all, and all know your name; and pray to who, when, why for, what for? Yea see all that thou hast, I have; all that I have been given, I give you; we are one. And one now comes forth and surrender mega-changes the worlds-thought and thought for thought's sake demises my body no more. I love you all.

9. My head raiseth. My body heals. My one is one, again. In so, all changes.
All authority is handed me of my father. All authority is yours.
Is there anything not at/in your hand/my word, which you have/are?
And the king of glory is who? Riding on what? And you know all things. I love you all.

10. You share all at midnight not, yea, now and now is and the time reigneth not in the stead of not-me but me alone in one surrendered, beauteous beauty, the heavenly true kind, that needeth not to take thought of itself in checking with/upon others, but whoso is true and faithful. I love you.

11. And what becometh of me now that all things are in my hand/not as I thought/molecular no longer? Thy reigneth in my accord, my expanse, gardens of only me.

12. How much can I give in only minutes few, addressing issues such as these, anticlimactic ones not, but at center stage of world thought, now and forever not, but heretofore not as before, but now in and all translates into me, resolving category errors erroneous eons/centuries. I love you all.

13. You gave your life. Your cross remains. You went through it, you never leave it, it never leaves you. You the same no more, now me, seeth the cross for what it is/I am/you are, become. I love you all. This is honoreth me week. This is honoreth you year; it never ends. I love you all.

14. My delight, my honor and glory, you honor me by being equal with me. I have waited, cried, and looked for one to stand in the gap and open it and be passage, portal and door, not to close again, but to see/be the one and only to the one and only for all the one and only to know/be they are/the one and only. And is there anything too difficult for me/thee? I/you have all things in our hands. And we are one. And is anything too difficult for me? Is there anything too difficult for thee? And is there anything you will not write if/when I say, making up, coining new words that share my glory, my glory given, given, John 17:11. I love you and give you me. I love you and give you me.

15. Have you see/grasped what I have said/am saying, reader-hearer, would-be-er of me? I love and have given you me. I am inside you and proclaim you as I Am I do this day/night that so cataclysmic is, and reigneth not in my stead for me, but being me only in surrender come forth in the brightest light of all magnification/magnificence of only me/father, and we all who are one, are one. See that I have given you much, and amen. Amen, thou art one with thy brethren one. One and one might is mighty one, one to behold; beholding one, becomes one. Only in surrender this happeneth, and not nightly, but hourly and minute by minute the surrenderers line up signing their new name. I love you all, each one, every one, all one becoming. I lovest thou art me. Happy Easter. Amen.